Dear Gerhard,

Per our phone conversation today I wish to confirm that Kunz GMBH Aircraft Recovery Equipment will be included to the vendor list in all of our Airplane Recovery Documents. Recovery Documents are not revised on a regular basis therefore it would be very difficult to give you a schedule when you will be able to see the Kunz GMBH company listed in all the documents.

Next year we anticipate that the 757 and 767 Recovery Documents will be revised so you can look forward to having your company name listed in those documents.

As we discussed Kunz is already listed in most of our existing Recovery Documents. I do not have any spare copies at this time but if you need a current revision quickly of any of these documents please let me know. I will forward your request on or for faster service you can directly contact our Data and Services Management Group at 206-766-2910 or www.boeing.com.

I trust that this will help clarify that the Kunz Company is an active recovery equipment supplier. If you need further assistance please contact me.

Best Regards,

 Gerald Plauszek
